Coming Soon: New Clinic at 1443 Ocean Avenue!

CITY COLLEGE HILL*50 Frida Kahlo Way*

Three-hundred-fifty-feet-high City College Hill is topped by City College of San Francisco's historic Science Hall. Designed by renowned architect Timothy Pfueger, the building features striking sculptures, mosaics, and murals. At the hill's base, Benny Bufano's 1960s sculpture "St. Francis of the Guns" stands with arms outstretched.

APTOS PLAYGROUND*Ocean and Aptos avenues*

Above the din of Ocean Avenue and beside the handsome Aptos Middle School, the Aptos playground includes a tennis court, baseball field, and a blacktop. Dog walkers frequently use the open space for canine recreation.

LAKEVIEW & ASHTON
MINI PARKShields Street and Orizaba Avenue*

Located on the apex of Merced Heights Ridge 500 feet up, this small natural area packs a powerful view. Known colloquially as the "Rocky Outcrop," it offers one of the best panoramic views in the neighborhood, rivaled only by the view from the Western edge of Brooks Park.

BALBOA PARK*Ocean and San Jose
avenues*

What doesn't Balboa Park have? Ingleside Police Station, a high-design pool, a playground, ball fields, a basketball court, Boxer Stadium where the local soccer teams play, and a skateboarding park.

BROOKS PARK*Arch and Shields streets*

Brooks Park is a hidden gem. It has a playground, community garden, and natural area that offers a stunning view of the Pacific Ocean. The land the park resides on was donated to the City and County of San Francisco by the Brooks family.

INGLESIDE LIBRARY
GARDEN1298 Ocean Avenue*

The Ingleside Library Garden offers respite from the bustle of Ocean Avenue. Community residents took stewardship of a piece of neglected land and turned it into a place where native plants and flowers can thrive.

RIDGE LANE*Josiah Street*

A beautiful walkway with unique ecological features that connects hillside residences to the streets below, Ridge Lane is an "orphan" public right-of-way that's slowly being developed for use under the leadership of neighbors.

UNITY PLAZA*1002 Ocean Avenue*

Unity Plaza is Ingleside's first public plaza, featuring an artistic play structure, plenty of seating, a staircase outfitted with historic pictures of the neighborhood, and uniquely patterned pavement designed by Kelly Ording named "Ebb and Flow." On a sunny day, it's popping with people of all ages enjoying coffee and community.

OMI BUSINESS LEAGUE MURAL

Ocean Avenue and Junipero Serra Boulevard

Commissioned by the OMI Business League and painted by Michael Mamente in 1999, this large mural depicts over thirty community members and luminaries who contributed to public life in the Ocean View-Merced Heights-Ingleside area and San Francisco.

INGLESIDE TERRACES SUNDIAL

Entrada Court

Built by the Urban Realty Co. in 1913 as an attraction for homebuyers, the greco-roman sundial is accompanied by City Beautiful-style benches and columns of every classical order topped with potted plants. The sundial is now San Francisco's second largest but still worth seeing.

HISTORIC GENEVA CARBARN & POWERHOUSE

San Jose and Geneva
avenues

These two historic structures survived the 1906 Earthquake and Fire to power San Francisco's first electric railway system and serve as an office building. After sitting vacant for 30 years, the powerhouse is under construction to become a performing arts center for the community.

DIEGO RIVERA'S PAN AMERICAN UNITY FRESCO

50 Frida Kahlo Way

Famed Mexican artists Diego Rivera's expansive last work in the United States, Pan American Unity is a sweeping must-see fresco. It's an unparalleled artistic work. Check www.rivera-mural.org for information before visiting.

INGLESIDE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH AND THE GREAT CLOUD OF WITNESSES

1345 Ocean Avenue

Ingleside Presbyterian Church is a rare historic landmark for being protected inside and out. The building boasts neoclassical architecture, and the interior has an impressive collage dedicated to African American history entitled "The Great Cloud of Witnesses," which Rev. Roland Gordon spent years making.

OCEAN AVENUE NORTH & SOUTH MURAL

1315 Ocean Avenue

Amos Goldbaum painted this mural at longtime neighborhood automotive shop Auto 280. The mural, hand-painted in Goldbaum's signature fixed-width line art style, captures the mise-en-scène of the neighborhood's hill-bound houses and varied commercial buildings.

HISTORIC EL REY THEATRE

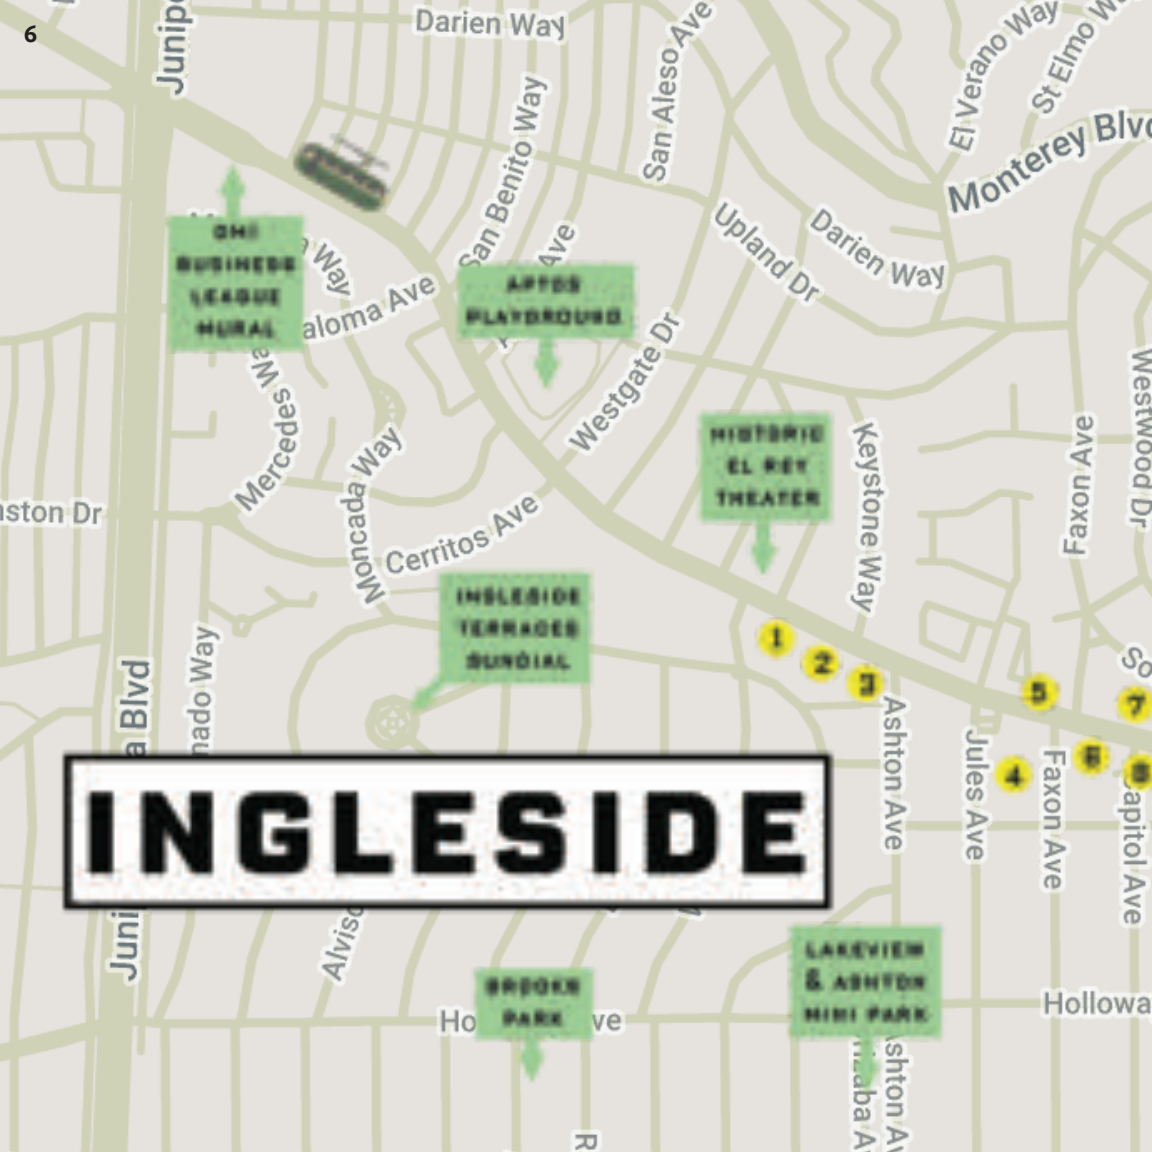

1970 Ocean Avenue

Built in 1931, the former El Rey theatre is an Art Deco masterwork by famed San Francisco architect Timothy Pflueger, who also designed the Castro and Paramount theatres. The eastern storefront was home to the first Gap clothing store.

WELCOME TO OCEAN AVENUE MURAL

Ocean and Geneva
avenues

In 2017, the Ocean Avenue Association commissioned this mural, which honors the architectural heritage and variety of Ocean Avenue from the neon Beep's Burgers sign at Lee Avenue to the Buck Rogers-esque Lakeview Medical Building at Junipero Serra Boulevard.
